

THE SALVATION ARMY
PRESENTS

SKELETON ARMY

A Musical

Music & Lyrics by Len Ballantine

Book by John Copeland

Originally Conceived by Neil W. Leduke

Directed by Brad Cain

AVAILABLE FOR BOOKINGS

On the poverty-stricken East London streets of Victorian England two armies line up for battle. The Skeletons fight for the comforts of the present. The Salvationists fight for the hope of tomorrow. Caught in the middle, Charles Jeffries, a charismatic young leader of the Skeleton Army must decide what side he really is on.

"Tonight I witnessed something quite remarkable... Stellar husband and wife team Kathryn and Kyle Higgins gripped the audience from beginning to end with flawless performances - poignant, witty, subtle and evocative. You have a heart of stone not be moved at their interplay."

-Col. Richard Munn

"You won't want to miss!"

-Capt. Jason Knaggs

"This production pulls you in from the very first scene, and the chemistry between the cast is palatable. They transport you back to a simpler time and bring to life the story of a great man and his wife in a very poignant and powerful way."

-Rick Hayes, HighPowerProduction

"A must see!"

-Capt. Jon Jackson

"People really resonated with the whole message. I cannot tell you how many people were just enthralled and challenged by the ministry of the piece."

-Lt. Col. Larry Ashcraft

